A customer came in t'other day and registered a "kick". Velvet collar on his overcoat "wasn't up to P &amp; Q standard", sez he. "Righto", sez we, and put a new one on.

P & Q

He's our friend for life. Not 'cause we did the right thing by HIM, but 'cause he put US right. Since we've sold thousands of velvet collared coats this season there's a possibility that other collars aren't up to snuff. We want to—Yes! WE'RE ANXIOUS—to make good on even a little fault.

The war's put the "kibosh" on the best imported velvets. We got the "bestest" in the market but if it's not what it ought to be we're sure not going to let you suffer. If the collar on your P &amp; Q overcoat is not O. K. we want you, by all means to bring it in and we'll put a new collar on free. The Customer BE-pleased. That's our aim.

Reduction in prices and all kinds of SALES will soon be the "cry" of the hour so

Berlin, Jan. 7.—The officer's sword, whose usefulness had long since vanished and whose sole remaining function was to trip its wearer up at inopportune times, is now to disappear officially at the German front. The

KOREA PROFITS BY TRADE FROM WAR STRICKEN LANDS

American Consignments of Goods Now on Way to Korean Markets

Seoul, Korea, Jan. 7.—The European war has so far favorably affected the industry and commerce of Korea according to M. Komatsu, commissioner of foreign affairs for the government general. It is true, Mr. Komatsu pointed out, that the foreign trade in graphite, says beans, cotton and some other articles was disadvantageously influenced at the outset of the war, but this tendency has changed much for the better. The export in cereals, ox-hides, live cattle and other articles has had an active demand, especially from Russia which has also placed large orders for boots and ammunition pouches with Korean companies.

The total figures for export during the year ending July 1915 stands about 42 million yen or $21,000,000. This shows an increase of 1-2 million yen as compared with figures for the preceding year, and the increase is due to the fact that the export of goods for the war has increased. As for imports, prices in wheat, flour, matches, drugs and medicines and a few other articles rose somewhat at the beginning of the war but fell afterwards to the usual standard. Some fluctuation in the prices have since been experienced, but it appears that this cannot be charged necessarily to the war. The total figures for imports during the twelve months above mentioned were about 65 million yen, which shows a decrease of 16 million from the preceding year. This means that the excess of imports over exports has decreased by about 19 million yen during the period as against the preceding year.

Mr. Komatsu said that difficulty was experienced in manufactures to some extent owing to the scarcity of chemicals but this seems to have been overcome at present. Among other things tobacco has found a new market in China and there is a good prospect in store for tobacco manufacture in Korea. He emphasized that transportation by sea has been affected by the war only to a very slight degree and that even new lines of regular service have been opened between different ports of Korea and Vladivostok, ports in Shantung province and other places.

There is one thing, however, which is causing a great deal of inconvenience to the extensive mining industry in Korea and that is the scarcity of dynamite. This is interfering seriously with the engineering and mining work. Before the outbreak of the war the greater part of the explosive used in Korea was imported from Glasgow but the quantity imported has steadily decreased until at the end of last month it ceased altogether. In Japan proper dynamite is manufactured by military authorities but on account of large orders for Russia it is next to impossible to buy the explosive either from the government factories or private companies.

In view of the danger that the supply of dynamite will be completely cut off and all engineering work stopped efforts are being made to buy explosive in Japan regardless of price and at the same time orders have been placed in the United States. The American consignments are expected to arrive in Korea by February.

TRAINMEN HERE ARE VOTING ON WAGE INCREASE

Conductors, trainmen and engine drivers of the New Haven road are taking a poll on the question of demanding an eight hour day with ten hours' pay and time and a half for overtime, according to a special dispatch from New Haven in today's New York Herald. It is stated, however, by officials of the road that the members of the trainmen's, conductors' and engineers' brotherhoods are on the most friendly terms with the railroad at the present time, and that the poll is being taken in conjunction with similar action in railroad east of Chicago and north of Washington on the general question of demands.

An official of the road said that about 850,000 men in all were involved in the vote, and that it would be well into March before the sentiment of the brotherhoods was learned.

"You may say," this official said, when asked concerning the reported poll on the New Haven, "that there is no misunderstanding between the New Haven road and its men at the present time and that the relations between the company and its employees are harmonious to a greater degree now than ever. We realize that the men are making a canvass of their brotherhoods and unions, but it is done because of a general order and takes in practically all the roads of the east."

It is further explained by the road's officials and the engine drivers themselves that there is no danger of a strike on the New Haven unless the strike is general. There have been no meetings between the employees and the road's officials, and no demands have been made upon the New Haven for the introduction of an eight hour day with ten hours' pay.

About two years ago the railroad brotherhoods in which the engine drivers, trainmen and conductors were interested started a more for a shorter day and the matter was taken up with some of the roads as separate organizations. The men were successful in some instances in arranging a time and wage schedule that was more satisfactory to them, but in other quarters the demands of the men were not heeded. The action was not a concerted one, and for that reason it was soon afterward determined to make a complete poll of the roads east of Chicago on the question of striking if, when the proposed new schedule was submitted to the several roads, it was rejected. This vote has been going on for months, and it is necessarily a slow process.

The engine drivers expect that they will have completed the poll early in March and in the meantime, it is believed, they will call for conference with Howard Elliott, president of the road, on a new wage and time schedule. The same is true of the trainmen and conductors, who are polling their members at the present time.

F. S. Evans, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who passes a good deal of time in New Haven, left there for Boston Wednesday night, and is expected back in New Haven on Saturday.
